Emma

As you know there are many different ways of communications, such as letters, emails, or telephone calls. Firstly, in face-to-face communication people can get direct response from the other party. When we talk with our friends, we can get feedback immediately from their verbal response, body language and facial expressions.

John

I believe that telephone and email are more efficient ways of communication. Telephones and email are becoming more and more important for us today. We use telephones for conversations to our friends and family; we use email to transfer important information and documents, even photo and multi-media files.

Mandy

I like sending text messages because nowadays, sending a text message has become more popular than making a phone call. A text message is much cheaper than a voice call. texting is a quick and efficient way. You don't have to write long sentences like e-mails or letter.

Robert

I prefer writing letter. Because writing helps your clear your mind. It is more personal to write by hand. Writing letters and notes is cheap and adds a human touch to your relationship. You write a letter to only one person and it shows that you care about people.

The internet today is a great source of information. There are lots of fun and interesting things you can do on the internet. And it can be a great way to stay in touch with friends. But it's important to understand how to stay safe online. Sometimes people will try to trick you into clicking dangerous links or sharing things about yourself.

There are a whole lot of good sides to the internet, but what I come here to talk about is the dangers of the internet and what you can do to ensure the safety of you and your family. You should think carefully before posting pictures or videos of yourself. Don't post any personal information online - like your address, email address or mobile number. If you see something online that makes you feel uncomfortable, unsafe or worried: leave the website, turn off your computer if you want to and tell a trusted adult immediately.

There are many things that a computer hacker can get from your computer. They begin to break those rules and steal information from other computers on the internet. Some of these hackers can get personal information off of your computer such as phone numbers, full names, credit card numbers, home addresses, personal letters, and much, much more. To avoid this many things can be done.
