Dear Diary,

Today, I'm very sad. This week, I was very ill, so I couldn't study for the exam. That's why, I made a wrong decision and I tried to cheat. I cheated in the Math exam. This was a big mistake. Furthermore ,my teacher realised. My teacher came close and she quietly told me to stop writing and leave the classroom. I'm so embarrassed. Then, I handed in my exam paper and left the classroom in tears. I hope nobody saw me. But how can I apologize to my teacher for cheating? I have no idea, dear diary. I am a fool! Oh my God! How could I try to deceive my teacher. I wish I hadn't cheated...

There are many historical sites in Türkiye. If you can go to Türkiye you must see Topkapi Palace, and Mevlana Museum.

Topkapi Palace was built by Fatih Sultan Mehmet in İstanbul. Türkiye. It is a palace built for the purpose of being the administrative state center of the Ottoman Empire.

Mevlana Museum is in Konya. It is the tomb of Hz. Mevlana. The tomb was built in 1274. Mevlana is a religious scholar, philosopher, mystic, and a scientist who is considered a symbol of tolerance.

My hometown Türkiye has many historical sites. I especially recommend you two places to visit.

One of them is Mount Nemrut stone statues. Mount Nemrut stone statues are in Adıyaman. Antiochus I, the King of Commagene declared himself a god and had a sacred place built on the summit of Mount Nemrut while was still alive to immortalize his name.

The other site is Çanakkale. The place where our martyrs lie, the Turkish flags, the monument, each one unique and impressive. It is definitely worth everyone from 7 to 70 to visit and breathe the air there.the Turkish flags, the monument, each one unique and impressive. Yesterday, heavy rain poured down on our town, leading to flooding in some areas. The rain lasted for hours, causing rivers and streams to overflow. Water flooded roads and entered houses in parts of the town. Rescue teams arrived quickly to help those stuck in flooded areas. They brought boats and helped families reach safer places. The rain has stopped now, but everyone needs to be careful as water levels are still high. Authorities are working to make sure everyone is safe and to fix the damage caused by the flood.

1.What happened yesterday?
