

QUESTION 1 (15 points)

It is the summer holiday. Lily is in her hometown. Her family has a new cottage in the village. She is calling her friend Ashley to show her their new life.

Lily: Hi, Ashley! I'm calling you from my hometown. My parents finally finished our new cottage!

Ashley: Wow, Lily! What a nice house! It looks so traditional and cosy. Is it a detached cottage?

Lily: Yes, it is. It is a small, one-storey house but it feels very spacious and stylish. Wait, let me show you my own room first!
(Lily walks into her room and turns the camera around.)

Lily: I have a new wardrobe and a bedside table here. Look at my bed! There are colourful cushions on it, and the curtains are very lovely.

Ashley: Wow, it all looks very balanced and pleasing.

Lily: Now, let's look at the garden.

Ashley: Is that a chicken coop behind the cottage?

Lily: Yes! We have a few chickens now. My father is there at the moment. He is feeding the chickens. He usually relaxes and reads the newspaper in the morning, but he is very busy with the animals now.

Ashley: That's amazing! And what are those green plants next to the garage?

Lily: That is our small vegetable garden. My father grows organic vegetables there. Look, my mother is in the garden now. She is watering the tomatoes.

Ashley: It looks very harmonious and peaceful, Lily.

Lily: It is! Home sweet home! Oh, wait! My sister, Katy, is calling me from downstairs. She is preparing the table for a village breakfast in the sitting-room. I can smell the fresh bread from the oven. I must go and help her.

Ashley: Okay, Lily. Enjoy your holiday! There's no place like home.

Lily: Absolutely! Thanks, Ashley. Bye!

QUESTION 2 (17 points)

Fred is at a world food fair for his vlog. He visits two different stalls and talks to the chefs about their dishes.

Fred's Vlog: WORLD FOOD FAIR

Hi everyone! I'm Fred. Today, I'm at the Urban Plate Food Fair in the city centre. It's a huge event! There are many stalls and street vendors here. I am visiting two different chefs to see their local dishes. Let's go!

Stall 1
Fred: First, I am visiting a very talented pastry chef. Hi, Chef Julien! What are you doing now? Chef Julien: Hello! Right now, I am preparing the dough for croissants. I am cracking twenty eggs into this giant pan. Fred: Wow! Do you always make them by hand? Chef Julien: Yes, in France, we usually spend hours on the perfect dough. At the moment, I am putting some extra butter inside to make it creamy and soft. We can't get the same result by machine. Fred: It smells amazing! Are these sweet or savoury? Chef Julien: These are savoury because I am adding some fresh herbs and a little vinegar now for a different taste. Fred: What a delicious meal! Or should I say, what a delicious pastry!

Stall 2
Fred: And finally, I am at the most crowded stall! I can smell the grilled meat. Hi, Chef Sam! What are you cooking? Is it a traditional burger? Chef Sam: Welcome! This is a smash burger, different from the classical ones. Right now, I am pressing the beef on the hot grill to make it juicy and tender. Fred: It looks delicious! What are the ingredients? Chef Sam: We usually use beef, cheddar cheese, and some herbs. But today, I am adding some grilled pineapple and sour cream sauce for a unique taste. Fred: How do you serve it? Chef Sam: We normally serve it with salty fries and a cold drink. But now we are servng it with crispy spinach and baked bean salad. Fred: Definitely not the classic style, then. How does it taste? Chef Sam: It's a perfect mix of salty and sweet. Have a taste! Fred: I'm full now, but I'm sure I won't be able to stop after the first bite.

QUESTION 3 (14 points)

The following text is a blog post about nature.

Türkiye's Turtle Beach: A Story of Survival on İztuzu

Every summer, ancient sea turtles return to a quiet beach in Muğla. Their existence depends on a dedicated team of people who refuse to give up.

When the sun goes down on İztuzu Beach in Dalyan, something amazing happens. Female sea turtles come slowly out of the Mediterranean. They dig deep pits in the warm sand, lay their eggs, and return to the water before sunrise. These turtles are Caretta caretta, the loggerhead sea turtle, and this beach is one of their most important homes in the whole Mediterranean Sea.

A Fight That Is Not Over

Sadly, the turtles are at risk. Marine pollution is a serious problem for them. Turtles often eat plastic bags because the bags look like jellyfish, one of their main food sources. Fishing nets, boat propellers, and bright lights on the beach also threaten their existence. Climate change affects the temperature of the sand, and this can even change the number of male and female babies in a nest.

It is not too late — Every little bit helps!

If we all do something, as students, families, tourists, and authorities, the next generation of Caretta caretta will still find a safe home on İztuzu Beach. Spread the word. These ancient travellers of the sea are in safe hands when we all work together.
